IF IT IS NEW AND TRUE THIS COLUMN HAS IT.

Sam Jones' Third Visit—Harm Borne—Burglaries at Trenton and Guthrie—New Coal Mine—Thirteen More Indictments—Speaking Yesterday.

A Robber and Rapist.

Last Thursday afternoon the dwelling house of Mr. Rufus B. Carter, near Trenton, was burglarized and about $10 in money and some clothing was carried off. Mr. Carter's cook, a colored woman named Bell Buckner, was on the premises when the robbery occurred and says she recognized Sam Diamond, col., alias Sam Brockman, as he came out of the house, and charges him with the crime. The Buckner woman also claims that Diamond attempted to assault her, but she managed to escape and her cries for help caused him to disappear. Diamond has relatives living in this city and it is believed he will make his way here. Officers in every direction have been notified and it is quite likely that he will be captured no matter where he goes.

Not Many Changes.

So far as we have heard but few new committeemen were elected in the twenty-four county precincts Saturday. The Democratic Committee for this county is an excellent one and so satisfactory to the party generally that there was no disposition to make changes. Under the instructions the old committeemen will remain in office until the State Central Committee takes action in cases where elections were not held.

Palmyra precinct was one of those that held a convention and Judge T. J. Morrow was chosen unanimously to succeed Mr. J. C. Buckner, who was ineligible for re-election.

Burglars Take Guthrie.

Last Thursday night burglars entered several houses in Guthrie and secured considerable cash and merchandise. The business house of Ed Bradley was entered and the cash drawer emptied of its contents—$10 in silver. A lot of clothing was also missing. The Rahl House also suffered to the extent of about $25, and the Roach residence was also broken open and clothing and other valuables were carried off. A detective has been put on the cases and may ferret out the robbers, as they are believed to be local parties.

North Christian News.

CLARKE, Oct. 5.—Mrs. E. C. Hoppe's tobacco barn containing about 5 acres of tobacco, was consumed by fire on Thursday night. Her entire crop excepting about 180 sticks, which she had in her son's barn, went up in smoke. Her invalid husband died last spring, leaving several small children looking to her for support, and the loss falls heavily on the poor widow.

A good deal of tobacco was bitten by frost in this section Monday night. Crops are fine however in spite of late cut worms and early frosts.

Kicked By a Horse.

Henry Jordan, an employee of the Water Works Company, was kicked several times by a horse he was driving to cart late Thursday afternoon, and one leg was badly fractured. Jordan fell off and when Jordan fell out of the cart he fell near the horse's heels. The cart was demolished and the harness ruined.

New Coal Mine.

Another new coal mine has lately been opened in Hopkins county at a point near Dawson. This mine is owned and operated by Messrs. Gentry and Williams. The vein of coal at the point where the mine was first opened is about three feet in thickness, but grows thicker as the mine is being developed.

Fall Military Opening.

The fall opening of Mr. T. J. Saradz, dealer in fancy millinery and notions, began yesterday and will continue throughout the week. A full line of the latest fall and winter styles are on exhibition and all the ladies are cordially invited to come and see the grand display.

Circuit Court Matters.

Last week was consumed in the trial of civil matters. Several commonwealth cases are docketed for this week, but none of note. In the case of the commonwealth against Rex R. Myers, charged with assault, a fine of $75 and costs on a plea of guilty, was assessed.

Breivitt and Linn.

Mr. James Breivitt and Judge L. C. Linn, candidates for circuit judge, spoke at the court house yesterday to a large crowd. The speaking was in progress when we closed the forms.

THE COMING FAIR.

Shooting on the First Day by Two Splendid Gun Clubs.

One of the attractive features of the coming fair will be a very interesting shooting match between the Henderson gun club and the Hopkinsville gun club on the afternoon of Oct. 17, to take place at the fair grounds. Shoot to commence at 8 o'clock sharp. The match will consist of ten members of each club to shoot a score of 20 pigeons each. The prize will be a $50 hammerless Parker gun. As there are some very fine shots in the Henderson club and some good shots in the Hopkinsville club, quite a spirited contest will likely take place. All who are fond of such sports will do well to attend the fair and be present at the match.

This is only one of several drawing features arranged for the fair this year, not generally on the program. Every indication points to the most successful fair ever held.

MATRIMONIAL.

ROSE-HICKS.—Mr. Fress B. Rose, of Madisonville, and Miss Sarah C. Hicks, of Henderson, were married in the latter city Thursday last. Rev. Thos. Cummings, officiating.

DEAN AND HIGHT.—Mr. Jas. Duncan and Miss Mildred Hight were married at the home of the bride's parents, in North Christian, Saturday evening.

Grand Jury's Work.

The grand jury completed its work Saturday and was discharged. In addition to the eight bills already reported the following indictments were returned.

Bob Tye, col., malicious cutting; Lang Bell, selling liquor to minor; Ples Marshall, col., selling liquor without license.

Charles Anderson, same, two cases; Billy Davis, Jr., assault; Grant Hawkins, col., gaming; Nathan Bowles, col., assault and battery.

Berge Mason, col., h. of p.; Bob Dyeus, col., malicious shooting; Lewis Hightower, same.

Jo. Holmes, same; Link Wallace, unlawfully detaining women.

This makes a total of only 21 bills found at this term—the smallest number for years. The foreman, Esq. Alex Campbell, informs us that there were fewer complaints reported to the jury at this term than ever before, when he was a member of that body.

Newspaper Stock Sold.

F. W. Dabney, assignee of Hunter Wood, sold at public auction at the court house door yesterday, among other property turned over as assets, 53 shares of the 153 shares of stock in the New Era Publishing company. The stock brought $1276, or about 24 cents on the dollar, and was knocked down to Walker Wood, the present business manager of the New Era, and son of the former owner.

Thoroughbred Colts.

Mr. J. A. Radford shipped three thoroughbred colts to Cincinnati yesterday afternoon to offer them for sale. They were of his own breeding and were beautiful yearlings, one a bay, one a chestnut and one a black. Mr. Radford is extensively engaged in the stock business and is the owner of some fine specimens of horse flesh, as well as other thoroughbred animals.

Sam Compton Dead.

Sam W. Compton, business manager of the Madisonville Hustler, died Sunday morning after a long illness of typhoid fever. He was a young man of the finest character and in his death the press of the State sustains a serious loss. He leaves a young wife.

The correspondent of the Louisville Post, who is traveling over the State hunting for disgruntled Democrats who are opposed to Harlan, has been called down at Cythian. He used the names of several loyal party men in his list of bolters and the Democrat of that city is filled with indignation. One of the angry gentlemen going so far as to denounce the correspondent as "a coward, a d—liar and a scoundrel."

The tramp strikes a land of promise at this season of the year in passing through Christian county. A short drive on a single rail will lead the traveler in sight of hickory nuts, walnuts, hazelnuts, wild grapes, persimmons, crab-apples, haws, locust pods and other edibles too numerous to mention, all hanging ripe upon the roadside. It even beats blackberry time.

D. Roman, hailing from Mayfield, but who has a wife's Carrollton, is in jail at Paducah, charged with unlawfully detaining Miss Lizzie Fuller, of Linton, Ky., and trying to take advantage of her in a Paducah boarding house.

PROCEEDINGS

OF THE CHRISTIAN COUNTY TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

Prof. Bartholomew, of Louisville, Ky., Conductor.

Miss Jennie West: I have no special matter to bring myself to circumstances. Would do much oral work in classes of beginners.

Prof. Clardy: I would start with the colonies, make a careful study of their forms of government. Trace the development of these into our present constitution.

Prof. Sollee asked if it was legal to use two or three text books on the same subject in the same grade?

County Superintendent: Yes in the list of adopted books.

The Institute then proceeded to the organization of County Associations, one in each Magisterial district. Much confusion resulted from the fact that the teachers did not know the boundaries of these districts.

The County Superintendent then deferred this until sometime in the near future. There being no further business the Institute adjourned.

FRIDAY, August 30, 1895.

MORNING SESSION.

Music. Prayer and scripture reading by Rev. Hart's Roll call. Song by Miss Kate McDaniel. Her coming forward was the signal for a burst of applause. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Miss Ellen Youngblood sang in a very charming manner a solo.

The County Superintendent then addressed the Institute. She reminded the teachers that grading is obligatory. Of course it is quite a difficult matter to grade our country schools properly, but it is not impossible. The grading must be done by degrees. The programme and course of study sent out by the State Board would be found quite helpful. She then called the attention of the teachers to the registers. This book is to be a guide to your success, being arranged for a four year record. Keep a record of the visits of the trustees. See that they fill out that part of the register devoted to their annual record. Teachers must use the books adopted by the County Board.

Prof. Bartholomew then introduced the subject of language lessons and grammar. With beginners in language work reproduction was an excellent exercise if properly conducted. Insist on beginning every sentence with a capital letter. See that it closes with the proper point.

Prof. McCartney: Simple teaching of the science of grammar will not make grammarians. Skill in grammar as an art is necessary. The most important thing to the children is to have a living model. The teacher himself should use the English language with elegance and ease. So long as our speech bristles with barbarism and with slang we cannot succeed. We must not think that grammar makes the language. Custom does this. The custom of cultivated people. Learning to speak grammatically is largely imitative. Our instructions are based on the Latin. Custom does this. The pupil goes out into the world he betrays himself the moment he opens his mouth. At what point should we begin this work? Find where the student is and begin at this point. Do not suppose that the student is the natural way. Then follow with the written work. Let the student revise his own work before he hands it in. The paper must be finally revised by the teacher. Be sure to write his own thoughts in his own language. Do not correct the child orally before the entire school. Avoid sarcasm. As to subjects; let them write about their daily work. Avoid the theme composition.

Prof. Thorne gave an exercise in practical arithmetic, showing his methods of teaching L. C. M. and G. C. D. and treatment of fractions.

Prof. Waller followed with a talk on the same subject.

Prof. Duffey also took up this work.

The Superintendent discussed the subject of the County Library. Reminded the teachers that they should return the books in a reasonable time. Reported 99 volumes. The teachers do not avail themselves of the opportunities presented by the library so often as they ought. The two members of the County Board of Examiners were reappointed as a library committee. The old book case had been sold by the school, with $344 on hand amounted to $844 total.

Nominations were then made for Editors to conduct an Educational Column, one on each paper in the city. The following were chosen: Prof. Armer for the KENTUCKIAN, Prof. Coyner for the Banner, Prof. J. C. Duffey for the Independent and Miss Jennie West for the News.

The chairman of the Committee on Neurology reported the following:

WHEREAS, God in His divine wisdom has seen fit to remove from our ranks one of our esteemed and efficient fellow-teachers in the person of

SAM HASN'T COME YET.

Revs. Stewart and Culpepper Held a Tabernacle Meeting.

The meeting at the Tabernacle began Sunday. Sam Jones was in Bowling Green but Revs. Stewart and Culpepper held three sermons, preaching to large crowds. The singing is in charge of Prof. Tillman, and two assistants and the music is very fine. A large excursion came on the O. V. Sunday, the people expecting to hear Sam Jones, who was not here until to-morrow night and maybe not until Thursday morning. He will certainly arrive, though, in the middle of the week.

Yesterday services were held five times. Mr. Culpepper discussed "Traveling on the Sabbath." Mr. Stewart is alternating between sermons and both of them are doing some excellent preaching. In fact Mr. Stewart is more popular in this city, with many people, than Sam Jones himself. His former visits have made the people familiar with his earnest, dignified and forceful manner of appealing to sinners. He is quite a favorite. Mr. Culpepper, is making a splendid reputation as an excellent preacher. The services will continue morning, afternoon and night from this time on for a week or more. Of course the crowds will continue very large and in some great jams when Sam himself appears.

HOPKINSVILLE MARKET.

Reported Oct. 2, '95, by J. H. Egbert, of Fred Lewis & Co., lead dealers.

The offerings this week were not the same as for some time past. Just for poor and nondescript.

Our market was a quarter of a cent higher on dark fat lugs than last week. All other grades ruled the same as last week. Stock of lugs on the market is comparatively small and there is no chance to fill an order unless it is a small one. The market has been in a low grade, but condition, therefore will be a wait until the new crop is available.

On Monday Sept. 30, there was a very heavy killing frost, which did some damage in this as well as other sections. I am unable to state to what extent the damage will be as yet. The largest loss was that of a party who had 25 acres of dark fat lugs. They were many of the best reported. The warehousemen are making large preparations in expecting their houses to receive the new crop of lugs at $214 a ton, a large handling house in course of erection.

LIVE BY THEIR WITS.

How Six Men of Mystery Manage to Meet Their Bills.

They Tell Not, Neither do They Spite—They Dress Well, Seem to Have Plenty of Money and Are Seen Everywhere.

There are many young men in New York who frequent the best hotels, coffee, restaurants, roof gardens and promenades, yet who have no apparent incomes or business. How they live is a mystery, and sometimes a wonder to themselves. That they have money at times is evident. They dress admirably, are always in evidence at some public place, whether day or night, and look with contempt on those who excuse themselves to keep business engagements.

Here is the history of a half-dozen:

A slightly built youth is Count fortune in a trap and his brother re-

This youth's education Europe received the best time they went in afforded. After the time they went in the army as lieutenants. To the one one died, leaving £20,000. He spent it a year in Paris with fast boys and later women. He became in-involved in a card scandal after his money was gone.

At the first patriarchs' ball he danced with Mrs. Astor and was well received socially. His wardrobe was all he possessed, but the Hotel Lagrot and other big hotels wanted their bills settled, so he left the stories and his fine garments.

A gambler uptown paid him a commission to bring rich youths to the route as table. He did well at this until he got into a row.

He then canvassed for cheap books, but none of the orders which he turned in were said to be spurious, although he had drawn a commission on them. Then he married the widow of a rich western turfman.

He ought not to give him a big allowance. She refused, and wanted him live on the stock farm for his board. He left. Now he patrols the gardens with a theatrical look and blonde.

None of these six young men may be seen in the hotel cafes buying wine or a lot of shady sporting characters, who think he has a fortune. He is wary, however, and they have given up trying to get him to invest in their schemes. He is popularly believed to be engaged to the daughter of a prominent clergyman in this city, who believes the story he tells of his private fortune.

As a matter of fact, his father owns two of the most crowded and ordinary of the Bowery lodging houses. The old man worships the boy, who sees him only once a week, or as often as he wants money.

No. 3 counts with quite a heavy swell set. He is a handsome fellow, and the name he is known by is not his own. His mother for years has been a noted figure, and her establishment was recently closed by the police. He belongs to a swagging golf club near the city, and has a large allowance, which he spends freely.

No. 4 is a familiar figure in Central park, especially at McGowan

Park tavern. Although scarcely thirty-five years old, he has been all over the world several times and served five years in an Australian prison. Among his pseudo friends he is considered a very charming fellow. Really he is an expert forger and bank sneak. "Cholly" thinks him a railroad promoter.

No. 5 is the intimate friend of a well-known man about town. He seems to be well supplied with money, yet has apparently no occupation. Really, he only works a few weeks every year. His business is supplying yachts with high-class provisions. He gets the owners to order their stewards to order all their goods from the firm he represents. On every order he is credited with a commission, and whenever he needs money he drops into the big grocery firm and asks how much has accumulated. He never talks business outside of that place except when he meets his half-dozen employers.

No. 6 is a pale-faced youth, with a studious expression. He is a confidential clerk and secretary to an invalid, who only sees him two hours each day and gets his orders. The stock market is his destination, and he places "bets" as he is told. The invalid is very rich. Needless to say, the secretary is acquiring quite a fortune, too, for his information earns him a lot.

These six men are fair types of the sort of men who never work if they can help it and about whom persons say: "I wonder how he lives?"—Chicago Post.

Rats and Mice.

A study of the subject has disclosed the fact that rats and mice, when imprisoned in a revolving cage, prefer to rest for twelve hours by night and rest for twelve hours by day. They do most work when the barometer is high.

BASS AND GRAYLING.

A Remarkable Story Which a Chicago Man Vouches for.

"The most remarkable thing I ever saw done by a fish," said Will Mussey, "did not happen on any far-away lake, but right here in Chicago. It was during the railroad exposition, held many years ago in the old Interstate exposition building on the lake front. Many of the railway companies had fine exhibits of fish taken from lakes and streams on the lines of their respective roads. A Wisconsin road had a splendid exhibit of black bass and graylings, and the large tank containing them was always surrounded by crowds of fishermen.

"I was standing there one afternoon watching a huge bass and wishing that I had him at the end of a good line in some good water, when I noticed a grayling which seemed disposed to be gay. He circled around the big bass a couple of times and then nipped him. He was probably just in fun, but I could see that the bass did not like it. The big fellow had been asleep, and perhaps he awoke with a bad taste in his mouth. He made no move toward the grayling, which became emboldened at this and, after hovering around the black fellow for a moment, made another dive at him. Like a flash the bass turned to one side and with a snap grabbed the grayling by the back fin.

"His eyes shone with rage. He was the personification of anger and ferocity. There was a swirl of water, and when it was over the grayling was quivering in his death agonies. The bass drew back a few feet and opened his jaws. Never until then did I realize the possibilities of the jaws of a black bass. He seemed all mouth, and he made a running jump at the grayling and caught him head first.

Now the grayling, while not so heavy as the bass, was fully as long. I did not think that the bass was going to attempt to swallow the grayling.

"It would be like my trying to swallow Jake Schaefer. But that was what he did, and, what is more, he succeeded. He worked him down slowly, lying quietly in one corner of the tank while thousands vainly tried to get near. He started this banquet at two o'clock in the afternoon. At ten o'clock at night the grayling was half way down. There was but little change the next morning, and it was four days before that bass could close his jaws over the tail of that grayling. There are twenty thousand people in Chicago who can vouch for every word of this."—Chicago Times-Herald.

No Latent Keys.

Among the latest inventions which Yankee genius has given the world is a doorknob which renders a latch key superfluous. By rotating the knob in the same manner as a safe knob until the proper combination is secured the door can be opened.

The lock is susceptible of one hundred thousand combinations, and he who knows not or has forgotten the proper one cannot obtain admittance through that door.

New Idea in Photographs.

A photographer announces "comico pictures" taken while you wait. These pictures are rendered comico by placing the head of the subject upon a ludicrous little body and then mounting the whole upon a fractious donkey.

Queen Victoria's Fortune.

Queen Victoria is as mad as a March hare because somebody has found out and published the exact amount of her fortune, accompanied by all the details of her income. The world has for a long time suspected that Queen Victoria's wealth was something to be wondered at, but few probably were prepared for the statement that it foots up to the colossal sum of $175,000,000! But this statement has been made by a willom accountant of the royal family, and it is generally believed by the wisecracks. It can be well understood now that the wildest opposition made in parliament upon many occasions to the granting of government moneys to the young scions of the royal family was based upon a clear knowledge of the queen's own opulent resources, and of her constitutional parsimony.—N. Will Fight on Horseback.

The Salvation Army of Denver has organized a cavalry corps of young ladies. The new corps is under the leadership of Staff Capt. Blanche Cox, and the other ladies in it are Capt. Harman, Lieut. Dunton, Lieut. Anderson, Capt. Blackledge and Cadet Staunton. They present a striking appearance in their uniforms of dark blue skirts, regulation red waists with wide rolling collars and regulation bonnets. The corps enjoys the distinction of being the only mounted Salvation Army lighters in the world. It has started out for a tour of the mountain towns.

Congregational Churches to Meet in National Session.

One of the Great Religious Gatherings of the Year—Delegates Will Assemble at Syracuse, N. Y., in History of the Church.

Special Bypasses (N. Y. Letter):
Once in three years the Congregational churches of the United States meet in national session. Every state and territorial association sends delegates, or a majority fraction of ten in the state; one delegate for each ten churches, or a majority fraction of each church membership, or a majority fraction of the number, and one delegate at large. Each Congregational regional association is entitled to one delegate, and the faculties of theological seminaries recognized by the church, have the privileges of delegates, but only for purposes of debate and delib-sions.

eration. Five hundred delegates, divided equally between clerical and lay delegates, constitute what is called the "National Council of the Congregational Churches of the United States." This body remains in session six days, its sole purpose being the fostering of closer relations between the churches in different parts of the country. The body meets in session whenever, as the conferring of such power on any body would be contrary to the principle of Congregationalism.
The role upon which the denomination considers itself founded is the complete independence of each and every congregation. Any association of believers united by a firm covenant for the maintenance of Divine worship, the observance of Christian rites and combined efforts to promote the Kingdom of God, constitute a church society, and as such is competent to elect and ordain its own officers, admit or reject applicants for membership, exclude unworthy communicants and transact its own business. The pastor holds the office of bishop or elder. Who deacons are not technically ministers, but they are helpers of the pastor, and have special charge of receiving and disbursing the charities of the church. In no way does the denomination recognize any rational ecclesiastical policy except the Bible, but it specifically repudiates all claims of superior bodies to exercise legislative or judicial authority.

For several hundred years the Congregationalists of America declined to hold what was now called "national" meetings; but in 1828 a number of delegates from various parts of the country met at Albany, N. Y., for the purpose of discussing important problems. In 1868 a meeting, known in church history as the Boston council, met at Boston.
In 1870 the Pilgrim convention, held in Chicago to commemorate the 85th anniversary of Congregationalism in America, suggested to many influential men the advisability of holding regular meetings for the interchange of opinion and the discussion of questions of interstate importance. The agitation resulted in a delegate convention, which met in Oberlin, O., in November, 1871, and formally organized the "National Council," which has met regularly ever since. The second session of the council was held at New Haven, Conn., in

DR. O. O. HOWARD,
President Home Missionary Society.

1874; the third at Detroit, Mich., in 1878; the fourth at St. Louis, Mo., in 1882; the fifth at Concord, N. H., in 1886; the sixth at Chicago, in 1890; the seventh at Worcester, Mass., in 1894; the eighth at Minneapolis, Minn., in 1898.
The ninth will meet at Syracuse, N. Y., October 9, and remain in session until the 16th.

The council will be called to order by Rev. Alonzo H. Quint, of Massachusetts, who was elected moderator three years ago. The election of his successor will be the first business transacted before the assembly, it being a tradition that no moderator shall serve more than one term. The other national officers will probably be re-elected without opposition. They are:
Secretary, Rev. H. A. Hazen, D. D., of Massachusetts; treasurer, Rev. S. B.
Forbes, of Connecticut; registrar, Rev.
W. H. Moore, of Connecticut.

According to the census report of 1890 the Congregational church in the United States has a total membership of 517,771, divided into 4,808 societies, and church property valued at $48,848,497.
Its educational mission and charitable work is conducted on a liberal scale, the principal agents being the American Board of Foreign Missions; the American Missionary Association; the Congregational Board of Christian Education; the Congregational Education Society; the Church Building Society; the Congregational Sunday-School and Publication Society; and the National Council's Ministerial Relief fund.

The American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions is a body founded in 1810, and since its organization, sent out over 9,000 missionaries, of whom 370 are now in service.
The mission fields at present occupied are Mexico, Hawaii, Japan, North China, Northwest China, Poo Chow and Hong Kong, in Southern China; Ceylon, Malacca, in Southern India; the Marathi field of Western India;
East Central Africa, Southern Africa, West Central Africa, East Africa, Central and Western Turkey, European Turkey, Australia and Spain. The total missionary force employed, including missionaries, teachers, native pastors and other native assistants, number 3,965. The president of the American board is Richard S. Storrs, D. D.

The second Brooklyn Presbyterian annual meeting of the board will take place at Brooklyn, N. Y., October 15th. The Congregational Home Missionary Society, of which Geo. O. Howard is president, has done much to advance the interests of the denomination in the United States. Its business is conducted along conservative lines, new churches being established only where there seems to be an actual demand. The object of this society is made particularly effective through the earnest cooperation of the women of the church who contribute liberally to its funds and to most of its charitable work. The American Union Mission association, whose headquarters are located in the Bible house, New York, maintains evangelistic and educational missions in the south and among the Indians and Chinese of the west. Its churches and schools are open alike to all, irrespective of race or color. The practical office of the Congregational Sunday-School and Publication Society is located at Boston, with a branch at Chicago. This organization employs Sunday-school missionaries, organizes Sunday-schools in neglected regions, and furnishes supplies to needy Sunday-schools.

All of these great societies will be represented at Syracuse by their ablest officials; and so will hundreds of local charitable and missionary associations and churches. Among the hundreds of eminent men who will represent local churches or societies at the council will be Senator Frye, of Maine; Senator Kyle, of South Dakota; Dwight L. Moody, the evangelist; Rev. F. W. Gunsaulus, of Chicago; Rev. Dr. Storrs, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Dr. Lyman Abbott, of Brooklyn;

Rev. Dr. Lyman, of Brooklyn; Rev. Dr.
Lyman, of Brooklyn; Rev. Dr. Lyman, editor of the Outlook and Beecher's successor as pastor of Plymouth church; President Jordan, of Stanford university; President Hyde, of Bowdoin college; President Tucker, of Dartmouth college; Rev. Washington Gladden, of Ohio; Rev. Francis E. Clark, of Boston, founder of the Christian Endeavor society, and scores of others of equal prominence.

The general interest taken in all acts of the Congregational church may be seen, in a measure at least, to the fact that its present membership consists of 517,771 members, and that its Mayflower pilgrims. And this thought suggests the necessity of pointing out the difference between the pilgrims and puritans, which is explained by the Advance Almanac, published at Chicago.

After the reformation, says this useful handbook, there were independent churches; but the first church of American Congregationalism was formed in Scrooby, England, in 1606; persecuted to Amsterdam, Holland, in 1607; moved to Leyden in 1609; sailed for the Mayflower four months, and landed at Plymouth December 31, 1620.
The pilgrims were different from the puritans. The puritans left England to enjoy unmolested a purer worship as members of the Church of England, which they soon found connection with the established church impracticable and organized as Congregational the first church of Salem in 1629, and the first church of Boston in 1630.
The puritans were John Winthrop, Sir Richard Saltonstall, George Phillips, John Cotton, Richard Mather and increase Mather. The pilgrims were Gov. William Bradford, Gov. John Carver, Gov. Edward Winslow, William Brewster, Capt. Miles Standish and John Alden.

In Great Britain the Congregationalists are known as Independents. Despite persecution the denomination has flourished, and now has a membership of over half a million, and maintains a number of educational institutions, many of which have been placed under government protection. Congregational statistics for the whole world are as follows:

Continent	Churches	Members
North America	5,000	275,000
South America	1,000	100,000
Europe	4,000	600,000
Asia	200	20,000
Africa	1,000	100,000
Australia	200	20,000

A BOAT'S CLEVER TRICK.

The serpent's slyest capture of an unsuspecting sparrow.
A sight very seldom seen by any but professional naturalists was observed the other day in a German zoological collection. The bon-constructor is a non-poisonous snake, and kills its prey by squeezing it to death. A young boy had been kept in a cage over a week with three sparrows without taking any notice of the presence of the bird, nor did the latter manifest any fright of the reptile.
One day, says the Philadelphia Record, the snake appeared to watch the movements of the bird, then picking seeds off the floor of the cage, and slowly began to unwind from the branch of the tree on which it spent most of the time. Almost impercep-tibly the loops on the tree disappeared, the body of the snake becoming more and more disengaged, but its head still remained at considerable distance from the floor. All of a sudden the forward part of the snake's body shot downward with lightning rapidity, grasping one of the unsuspecting birds, not with the mouth, but with a rapid twist of the body, crushing it at the same time until only the legs. This was done so quickly and noiselessly that the other birds never noticed the absence of the victim. The boy then returned to the tree above, and after a little preparation of food, and the bird and covering it with manna it proceeded to swallow its prey without biting or struggling. As the boy saw the snake take its food at night or in the dark, this spectacle was thought very curious.

ON A TOMBSTONE.

A Human Face Produced in a Miraculous Manner.

In the Oak Hill cemetery at Stony Brook, L. I., a large tombstone of not faded Italian marble bears a remarkable portrait of an average-sized human face. The picture is not the work of a sculptor, nor has it been graven with the marble-cutter's chisel; it is a natural production, the outlines of the face being formed by a peculiar grouping of the clouded veins and dark spots characteristic of first-class imported stone.
The remarkable peculiarity of this particular stone has been known for two or three years, and throughout the length and breadth of Long Island it is referred to as "the miracle face." Standing near, as one would in reading an epitaph or inspecting the grain and polish of such a memorial shaft, the outlines of the face cannot be traced, but at a distance of from thirty-five to fifty feet it is as plain as though done with an artist's brush, the grouping of the spots, veins and waving lines combining to make not only a fair resemblance to a face, but a complete portrait, including hair, eyes, nose, cheeks, mouth, chin, etc. Its outlines are clearest, of course, when the shadows and light play properly upon it, but at the distance mentioned, and in the proper direction, the portrait is plainly visible still. The face is on the back of the stone, and the eyes are so set as to appear to be looking down upon the grave of the person to whose memory the shaft was erected.

AN IMPORTANT OFFICE.

An Amazing Anecdote of the Edinburgh
General Assembly.

Among the many anecdotes relating to the celebrated Dr. Chalmers, an amusing one was once told by a gentleman his return from his first visit to Edinburgh.

He had heard a great deal about the wonderful oratorical powers possessed by some of the members of the general assembly, and, being anxious to hear and judge for himself, paid an early visit to it.

Near to him, relates the Youth's Companion, sat an elderly, hard-featured, solemn-faced man, who was seated with both hands on a heavy stick, which he eyed with great concentration of gaze, scarcely lifting his eyes from his absorbed contemplation of it.

Soon the stranger's attention was riveted upon the speaker who had opened the day's discourse. The wonderful command of language which he possessed, combined with the grace of style and the peculiarity of his manner, excited the listener's curiosity to a great degree. "Can you tel-me who is speaking now?" he asked eagerly, turning to the sober-faced old man beside him.

"Who's speaking now?" echoed the old man, lifting his eyes from the contemplation of the stick to fix them in contemptuous amazement upon his interlocutor. "That, sir, is the great Deocher Chalmers, and I'm holdin' his stick!"

How Congregations are Carried.

A physician in a country village has lately given his medical brethren some additional instances of the ways in which contagious diseases are spread.
He should make us all thoughtful.
The only case of scarlet fever ever lost by this doctor was one in which the disease was communicated by a letter written by a mother (in whose family there were two cases of the fever) to a friend a hundred miles away. The envelope of the letter was given to a child as a plaything. Another severe case of the fever was contracted by a little girl from two playmates who had what the doctor called "scarlet rash," and still another was carried to a family by a carpenter, who lived eight miles away, whose little children were suffering with scarlatina, a disease that "the attending physician informed the father was not nearly as catching as scarlet fever."

The Migrants.

In one of the fashionable "Kurorte" on the Rhine reports a writer in the Rein. he came across some queer entries in the visitors' book of the principal hotel. One of the Paris members of the Rothschild family had signed "R. de Paris." It so happened that Baron Oppenheim, the well-known Cologne banker, was the next arrival, and immediately copied the above by signing "O. de Cologne."

Round Oak Stove.

Now is the time to buy heating stoves. The Round Oak is still in the lead. It is the only air tight stove on the market. The genuine ROUND OAK found only at Forbes & Bro. It heats more on less fuel than any stove made and will out last a half dozen of the cheap imitations.

Majestic Range.

We sold more majestic ranges last year than were ever sold before in the same time, and the reason they sell is because they are the best and most economical baker's made. The oven is the most important part of a cooking apparatus, the fire box is the digestive organ and the draft is the circulation. These organs in the Majestic are different from any stove or range made. The Majestic oven is the most satisfactive, the fire box the most economical and the draft the simplest and most perfect.

AROUND AND ABOUT.

NOTHING BUT NEWS FOUND IN THIS COLUMN.

A Condensed Account of the Latest Happenings Told for Busy Readers.

Mayfield registered 832 Democrats, 246 Republicans and 22 scattering.

Joe H. Barrett committed suicide at Lexington while on a spree.

Conrad Sides, a prominent farmer, was found dead in his barn, near Newport.

The Democrats of Green and Taylor counties have nominated George Wesley Hazlewood for representative.

Charlie Vaughn, a balloonist, came down in a tree at Henderson and was badly hurt, though he will recover.

The registration at Cynthiana was 761, 90 more than last year, showing a Democratic gain and a good majority.

Shelbyville registered 264 Democrats, 322 Republicans and 7 non-com, stated, a republican gain of more than 100.

The amount of money paid by the United States government to the state of Kentucky on war claims since Oct. 1, 1867, is $1,066,174.20.

Gen. Orlando M. Poe, regarded as the most distinguished engineer officer in the United States army, died suddenly at his home in Detroit.

The residence of Mrs. Sallie W. Macey at Versailles, was robbed and set on fire, the occupants barely escaping.

Lieut. Perry says he is done with Arctic exploring, and that if he ever sees the north pole it will be brought to him.

Frankfort's registration: Democrats, 847; Republicans, 810; Populists, 17; non-com, 127. Total, 1,860.

Owensboro registered 390 Democrats, 510 Republicans, 173 non-com, and 30 scattering. This is a Republican gain of 62 and a Democratic falling off of 171. Another registration will be held to-day.

Less than 300 persons heard Col. Bradley at Barbourville when thousands had been expected. He spent much time explaining his conduct at Eminence but never a word as to why he quit the debate.

Frank Robertson, a drummer from St. Louis, committed suicide at the Winan House, Bowling Green, Friday by shooting himself in the head. He was dead broke and grew despondent.

Neal Smith, the colored convict, who outraged Miss Maggie Henderson, near the convict camp at Cole City, Ga., was lynched by a mob of 200 men. After being mutilated several pounds of lead was shot into his body.

The total registration in Louisville was 36,558, which will be increased to about 39,700 by the supplemental registration. The Democrats have a majority of 4,000. The Republicans are disappointed in the figures, but hope to carry the city with the aid of scatterers and Democratic bolters.

The court of appeals in an opinion by Judge Hazleigg decides in the case of Dr. McDermott and others vs. the city of Louisville that the board of aldermen was elected only for two years and Monday affirms the recent decision of the lower court. Under this decision aldermen will be elected next month.

Judge Russell Houston, chief of counsel for the Louisville & Nashville railway, died Oct. 4 after a month's illness. He was born in January, 1810. He was president of the company for a few months in 1888, and had been connected with the company since 1862.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases but together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh cure, manufactured by F. J. SOURCES OF TYPHOID FEVER.

Dr. Kelly Corrects a Statement Imputed to Him.

Dr. Kelly, of the health department, says he did not say, as reported, that "most of the typhoid fever cases reported to the department were imported from northern Kentucky and some from the northern states." What he did say, he claims, was "that the recent increase of typhoid fever was probably due, in the absence of any other obvious cause, to the seasonal increase of the disease in the rural districts, whence it is known many of the cases come. This seasonal increase is more marked than usual, due, probably, to the light rainfall of the summer months and consequent lowering of the ground water and increased pollution of water supplies in country districts. From a similar running through the northern half of Kentucky up into Michigan and Wisconsin, typhoid fever has been reported unusually prevalent, and in many localities epidemic, during the past month. People from these localities came to Chicago and developed the disease which they had already contracted elsewhere.

"As a matter of fact," Dr. Kelly continues, "the typhoid mortality of the month is equal to any other exception, absolutely the lowest of any August since 1883, and relatively as low to population is considerably the lowest. There is a still more satisfactory showing in the reduction of the death rate from cholera infantum. This should be conclusive as to the character of our drinking water. It may not be ideally pure, but there has certainly been nothing alarming in its condition nor in its effects on health this summer, except on one or two occasions."

PROCEEDINGS.

Mr. James Webster Davis, who died at his home in Crofton on the 1st day of April, last, in the 38th year of his age. Mr. Davis had been for twenty years constantly engaged in teaching, and always manifested a willingness to perform any task that might be assigned him, and in every way showing himself worthy of the profession which he so early in life espoused. He was a consistent member of the Christian Church, an enthusiastic advocate of all that tended to advance the cause of Christ, and a devoted Sunday-school leader. Therefore, be it

1st. RESOLVED, That we have sustained a very great loss through his death.

Second, That we, as a body of teachers, imitate whatever of his life and character we may have found noble and elevating.

LIZZIE SHEPARD,

Committee.

The report was adopted and the committee discharged.

The Committee on Resolutions, through Prof. Clardy, presented the following series of resolutions which were adopted:

1st. RESOLVED, That we, the teachers of Christian county assembled in Institute, thank the directors of this building for its use. We express our appreciation of the zeal and tact of our Superintendent, and for the energy, patience, ability and skill displayed by our Instructor, Prof. Bartholomew, in conducting the discussion.

2nd. RESOLVED, That local taxation would be productive of good attendance, of easy grading, of better teachers and of higher education in the country schools.

That unflinching zeal and determination on the part of the teachers to be always progressing will ultimately bring about the desired reforms.

That we teachers prosecute our work in a professional and up-to-date way and allow no old fogeyism or prejudice against new methods to draw us from our purpose.

That the title Professor, as applied to us, the teachers in common schools, is a misnomer, has no worthy significance and should be abolished.

That we endorse the Reading Circle, the grade of examination questions and all other work of State Board calculated to raise the standard of the teacher.

That we thank our efficient Secretaries for the faithful performance of their duties.

That the Institute as a body petition our Superintendent to hold our Institute in October or at least in cool weather.

That we extend our sincere thanks to Prof. Coolter and the ladies who so highly entertained us with their music.

J. B. SOLLEY, Ch'm'n

U. L. CLARDY,

MISS DORIE ANDERSON,

MISS KATE GUTHRIE,

H. H. WEST,

MRS. ALLEN,

Committee.

Prof. Bartholomew with a few brief well chosen words thanked the Institute for the marked attention and courtesy they had shown him.

Miss Kate McDaniel then congratulated the teachers on the interest manifested as shown by the full attendance, the roll showing 90 teachers present; this included only three not properly belonging to the country schools.

The Institute then adjourned sine die. This ended one of the most enthusiastic gatherings of teachers held here for some time.

B. E. THORN, Sec'y.

CARRIE A. WOOD, Ass't Sec'y.

The Coming Fair.

The Fifth Annual meeting of the Christian County Fair will be held Oct. 17, 18 and 19 and preparations have been made for a much better fair than usual. The fine crops, the increased interest and the extra efforts made to improve the various departments will all help to insure a successful meeting. Many special premiums have been offered by the merchants and some fine exhibits are promised. For particulars and catalogue write to Jno. B. Galbreath, Secretary.

Mrs. Cecilia E. Bailey and her sister, Miss Bertha Eppinghouse, at their concert at the Tabernacle Thursday night, gave an entertainment that was satisfactory in every respect. Mrs. Bailey's singing was truly enjoyable and Miss Eppinghouse's recitations were rendered in a most charming manner.

A LADY "SPECIALIST."

A Suffering Physician in New York Has an Experience.

She Believes His Aching Head in About Ten Minutes, But Did Other Things as Well as About the Same Time.

A well-known physician who a few months ago was thrown from his carriage by his horse taking fright at a bicycle on Seventh avenue, and who had his head badly hurt, was driving on Jerome avenue a few days ago, says the New York Journal. He was suddenly taken with violent pains in his head, as had intensively been the case ever since he was injured. He stopped at Judge Smith's old place to see if he could not do anything that would afford him relief.

As he was debating with his lady companion as to what he had better do with a well-dressed woman with a gripack entered the parlor and took in the situation at a glance, for it was plainly evident that the physician was suffering greatly.

"Is the pain mostly in the back of your head?" asked the woman.

"Oh, it's all over my head," groaned the physician.

"Let me feel your pulse. Exactly. Caused by a nervous state, brought on by a shock. Your tongue. I thought so. Corroborates my diagnosis."

"Are you a physician?" the sufferer asked.

"Not in its general sense. I'm a specialist in neurasthenia. Use little besides animal magnetism. Don't believe in drugs for it. You are skeptical, of course, but I'll agree to cure you in ten minutes or forfeit $100."

"I'll give you $10 if you cure me in an hour," groaned the despairing sufferer.

The woman made the physician recline in a rocker and close his eyes. Then she began to rub his face and hands, making a motion as if shaking off something from her fingers after each pass.

Strangely enough, in less than five minutes the sufferer began to feel easier, and in five minutes more the pain had entirely disappeared.

The physician forthwith offered the woman a $10 bill, but she refused it, saying that she simply wanted to prove the efficacy of her theory.

"You'd better sit quiet and lean back for about ten minutes, so, and close your eyes, so, to prevent a recurrence of your trouble for your nerves need rest and nourishment. Take no stimulants—better take sedatives. Good afternoon."

And she gracefully bowed herself out.

"Where's your scarfpin, doctor?" asked the physician's companion.

"Did you take it off?"

He felt for it, and then exclaimed:

"Robbed, by Jove!"

The "specialist" had got a diamond pin worth $139, a $1,000 bill, two $20 notes and a railroad pass to Niagara.

We have received a copy of a unique publication called "H. M. Greene & Co's History of the Grain and the Grain Trade of the World." It is printed in colors and is illustrated with a picture some 6,000 years old, from the tombs of Thebes, representing the ancient Egyptians elevating their wheat into granaries. The book covers the prehistoric chapters of the subject. Egyptian, Chaldean, Assyrian, Babylonian, Persian, Indian, Chinese, Phoenician and Carthaginian historians are quoted. There is a very rare description of land caravans and sea caravans. The history of wheat in Greece, Rome, Antioch, and among the Scythians, Celts, Gauls, Germans, Goths, Scots, Britons, Irish, Africans, ancient Builders, Peruvians and American Indians, finishes the first part, or ancient history of Grain. The part called Modern History deals with Venice, the Arabs, carrying of wheat to the new world, the Philippines, the Dutch, Antwerp and the great modern European and American cities. It is the publisher's desire to present a copy of the work to every miller, grain dealer and interested party in the United States, and all such wishing a free copy should address H. M. Greene & Co., Rialto Building, Chicago, Ill.

The October number of The Forum will contain three notable articles on the "Significance of the English Elections." The first paper, contributed by Sir Herbert Maxwell, M.P., late Junior Lord of the Treasury, and a distinguished member of the conservative party. He considers the late election "A Crisis in English History" and he sets forth what he believes to be the cause of the Liberal defeat. Mr. Geo. W. Russell, who was a member of Mr. Gladstone's second and fourth administrations, and who remained in office until Lord Rosebery's resignation last June, adduces nine reasons for his party's defeat, the most important of which he considers to be the temperance plank in its programme. The third article, "Why, Whence and Whither," is from the pen of Mr. Justin McCarthy, the leader of the Irish party in the House of Commons. He discusses the Liberal defeat from the Irish point of view, and considers its bearings on Home Rule, which he thinks may be delayed, but is bound to come sooner or later.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement to the personal enjoyment of the world. The many who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of their bodies, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs. It is as effective as it is pleasant. In the form of a pleasant and palatable to the taste, it is a most beneficial and effective remedy for the system, dispelling colds, bronchitis and fever, and permanently curing constipation. It has given relief to millions of sufferers from the most distressing and painful of the medical profession, because it cures the kidneys, liver and bowels, without weakening them and is perfectly free from every objectionable substance. Syrup of Figs is sold by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, whose name is blown on the wrapper, and being sold everywhere, you will accept any substitute offered.

Prof. V. F. Ward's uniformed band, of Hopkinsville, accompanied the editors on the trip, adding greatly to the pleasures thereof. The band is far ahead of those usually found in cities no larger than Hopkinsville and makes splendid music. It is said there isn't a better musical organization in the State or the south outside of Louisville. There are five soloists in the band, all of them star musicians. Prof. Ward has been directing bands for more than ten years, during which time he has established an enviable reputation—Morganfield Sun.
